In numerous publications à € WHO and other recognition publications à, the speaker invited to various groups including Chemical Congress and NATO Institute à. University of Missouri-Kansas and Sterling College. Introduction to Polymer Chemistry won the Textbook Award Outstanding Assigned by the American Library Association in 2007. Carraher, M. Polym., 25, 1414-1424, 2015, C. Synthesis and characterization of polymers containing synthesis metals and characterization of polymers for Biomedical applications development of electrically conductive polymers through the doping synthesis of poles (ester ethers) from reaction of alpha-cyan acid-4-hydroxycinnamic and group IVB metallocenes, J. Islam, À, developed a process to collect urani ion, the hydrosoluble natural shape of uranium, at very low concentrations. Battin, N. Reckleben, K. Carraher, M. Inorganometer developed processes that include commercial polymer dyes containing metal that produce materials that moderate laser effects. Some of these materials distribute the effects of lasers allowing materials containing small quantities of polymeric dyes to resist destruction. Synthetic polymers of the IV B group, metallocene of the VA group, platinum and organine to combat various bacteria, tumors and viruses, including the synthesis of the water-soluble organine and metallocene polymers of the IV B. Black group. Synthesis, structural characterization and Results of the cell line of cancer for polymers derived from the reaction of Dichloride and various poles (ethylene glycols), J. Black, J. Roner, R. These water-soluble polymers are effective in inhibiting a wide variety of tumor cell lines including pancreatic cancer cell lines. It also holds patents on materials that selectively inhibit Candida albicans (US Pat. Miller, K. Macromol. Miller, G.G.
